

Philadelphia Rotary's Largest Book Distribution Ever!

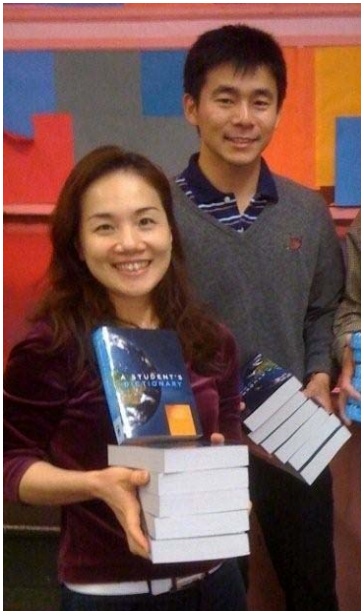

The Philadelphia Rotary's 2009 literacy program involves gifts of more than 2000 dictionaries, thesauruses, atlases and library books for children at five different schools.....it's the Philadelphia Rotary's largest book distribution ever!

The first of the Philadelphia Rotary's "five book distributions" this fall took place at the Sharswood School on Monday, November 2.

Shown right are (R-L) Philadelphia Rotarian Warren Kuo, Ambassador Scholar Mayu Asada and Ambassador Scholar Makoto Kuwabara personally giving dictionaries to the 3rd, 4th and 5th graders at the school.

Sharswood School fifth grader Mickeynal Puth expresses appreciation to the visiting Philadelphia Rotary delegation for the donation of more than 300 dictionaries, atlases and thesauruses to students at the school during the distribution event ceremony on Monday, November 2.

Ambassador Scholars Take Time out From Their Studies To Support Philadelphia Rotary's Largest Book Distribution Ever!

Shown left are (L-R) Japanese Ambassador Scholar Mayu Asada (Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania) and Japanese Ambassador Scholar Makoto Kuwabara (Graduate School of Education, University of Pennsylvania) who took some time away from their studies to personally give dictionaries to the 3rd, 4th and 5th graders at the Sharswood School in Philadelphia on Monday, November 2.

The Philadelphia Rotary 2009 Literacy project involves the donation of more than 2000 thesauruses, dictionaries and atlases to students at five different Philadelphia schools.