Your Gently-worn Jewelry and Dresses for a Good Cause!

In an area in India where electricity is spotty, girls rescued from slavery cook over a methane stove, thanks to a bio-gas system partially provided by Dress for a Good Cause and a Gundaker grant.

In fact, they're needed for a great cause—a fundraiser to benefit rescued survivors of human trafficking and slavery.

Hosted by the Rotary Club of West Chester Downtown, the fourth annual Dress for a Good Cause sells dresses and jewelry for proms, parties, picnics, and other extravaganzas. The event allows local girls to buy prom dresses at rock-bottom prices and keeps clothing out of landfills. All proceeds go to projects for survivors of human trafficking.

Previous events have helped fund furniture and transportation passes for local survivors, a vehicle for rescues and daily transportation for a boys' center in India, and a bio-gas cooking system and a pavilion for a girls' shelter in India. Needs this year: solar lamps for the girls' shelter and support for the local residence.
